

Stoke ERCP & EUS Symposium

13th–14th September 2018
Royal Stoke University Hospital

The two day event will aim to address the clinical and technical issues faced during ERCP, including the role of EUS, using a combination of interactive lectures and live case discussion guided by our expert faculty.

Nursing Programme Faculty:

Sister Carole Lyth, Stoke
Dr Kar Lau - Consultant Gastroenterologist, Stoke
Staff Nurse Viv Barratt, Chester

Day 1 DEDICATED NURSING PROGRAMME

Live ERCP from three centres:

Royal Stoke University Hospital

Asian Institute of Gastroenterology, Hyderabad

Humanitas Research Hospital, Milan

Topics covered include:

Aims and objectives	Configuration of the duodenoscope	Accessory workshop and hands-on training
Basic anatomy and radiology	Accessories and models	Recognising complications
Pre-assessment	Tour of the Royal Stoke University Hospital Endoscopy Unit
Safety and sedation
Diathermy

12 RCP CPD points awarded

We encourage nurses involved in ERCP to attend and benefit from the superb educational opportunities that this course will provide.

Day 1 will feature a dedicated nursing workshop that will run parallel to the main symposium, on day 2 nurses will join the main symposium which features lectures and live cases.

Utilising sophisticated audio-visual technology this will be a fantastic opportunity to engage in multidisciplinary discussion with other delegates in a relaxed and informal environment.

For full programme details and to register Click Here

For further information please contact aquilant@duoconferenceandevents.com or 01423 861131

